| (1) נָתַן לוֹ הַנְּבִיא אֶת־הַתּוֹרָה:   | (6) יֵשׁ גְּבוּרִים רַבִּים בַּמַּחֲמָה:                   |
| (2) אֵין לוֹ חֲכָמָה:                    | (7) יֵשׁ לִי כֶסֶף וַיֵּשׁ לָךְ גָּמֶל:                    |
| (3) מִצָּאת חֲכָמָה:                     | (8) יֵשׁ עֲבָדִים רַבִּים לַמֶּלֶךְ אֲשֶׁר בִּיהוּדָה:     |
| (4) יֵשׁ לָהּ אִישׁ: יֵשׁ לָהֶם יָלֵד:   | (9) אֵין זָהָב לַנְּבִיא: יֵשׁ לוֹ עֲצָה:                  |
| (5) יֵשׁ לָנוּ לֶחֶם וְאֵין לָנוּ מַיִם: | (10) אֵין לָנוּ מְקוֹם בֵּין הַמַּחֲנֶה וּבֵין הַגְּבֻעָה: |

b. 1-10

- (1) There is no god (are no gods) like YHWH; there is no king like God.
- (2) The elder has wisdom and understanding.
- (3) The warriors who are in the camp tonight have no peace. [Or, in terrible English style: There is no peace to the warriors who are in the camp tonight.]
- (4) The land of Israel is large/big. It has many cities.
- (5) There is no righteousness in him, because he broke YHWH's laws.<sup>1</sup>
- (6) We have bread and water, but they have great famine.
- (7) There is a sound of joy (gladness) in the camp of Israel.
- (8) The people (nation) which walked in the evil way have (had) no deliverance (salvation).
- (9) God gave us a blessing, because we did not break the law.
- (10) The king of Judah remembered the house of YHWH because there was (is) gold and silver in it.

c. Word division (the third word of b.3).

<sup>1</sup>Note that although the direct object is definite (תּוֹרוֹת יְהוָה = the laws of YHWH, since the 2nd member of this construct phrase is a proper noun and therefore makes the whole thing definite), the sign of the accusative is missing. This does happen sometimes!
